Guide to the Garden

How to use: This guide is designed to start from the garden entrance near the North side of the MSU library. Snap a picture of the map sign near these stairs or view the garden map on our website to follow the bed numbers.

SWIFT VIOLETS

Bed 17

- 1. Sweet Violet Viola odorata
There are over 400 types of violets! These won't help you run faster, but they can be used in cooking and baking.

ARMORANTH

Bed 13

- 2. Globe Amaranth Gomphrena globosa
These flowers are popular decorations because they keep their vibrant color when dried. They are also commonly used in herbal medicine.

- 3. Torch Lily Kniphofia uvaria
Also known as Red Hot Poker flowers, these are favorites of bees and hummingbirds.

MIGHTY THISTLE

Bed 5

- 4. Lily of the Valley Convallaria majalis
This plant is highly poisonous and invasive in many parts of America, but it is popular because of its sweet scent.

BLUE NIGHTSHADE

Bed 43

SILENT PRINCESS

Bed 83

- 5. Madonna Lily Lilium candidum
This lily has been cultivated for thousands of years, and it can reach up to 6 feet tall in the right conditions.

COOL SAFFLINA

Bed 82

- 6. Common Sage Salvia officinalis
It won't grow in the snow like cool safflina, but sage is a popular herb for flavoring and is believed to ward off evil in multiple cultures.

- 7. Pineapple Weed Matricaria discoidea
Originally native to northeast Asia, this plant can now be found across North America and Britain. The name comes from its sweet, pineapple-like smell.

HYRULE HERB

Bed 66

- 8. Wild Yellow Lily Lilium canadense
Deer love to snack on this lily! The flower bulb has been used medicinally; Chippewa people use it as a snake bite treatment.

SUNDELION

Bed 60
